MURDER AT HANFORD

A Swede Killed for His Money.

A FATHER AND SON SUSPECTED

Asher and George Blair of Selma Are Placed Under Arrest.

Special to The Republican.

HANFORD, December 9.—On Wednesday last the body of a man who had been shot in the head was found on the bank of Cross creek. Beside the body, which had pitched forward partly into the water, lay a shotgun with one barrel empty. A horse almost starved was found tethered near by, and a wagon containing a hunter's outfit also stood near by.

The man was unknown, and was first supposed to be a hunter who had accidentally shot himself. Developments at the inquest today, however, led to the arrest of two men for murder.

The dead man proved to be John Peterson, a Swede, who left Selma Monday last with George Blair, a young man, for a three weeks' hunt near Tulare lake. They arrived at Hanford Monday night and put up at Rogers' livery stable. Blair went to bed and Peterson went out and began drinking. Peterson went back to the stable about midnight, Blair got up and they resumed their journey. The next morning they returned to town and searched the livery stable for money Peterson claimed to have lost, but did not find it. Then they made some purchases, Peterson displaying about $400 in gold.

As the men were driving away a stranger came up and engaged Peterson in a conversation, talking Swedish. Nothing more was seen of either man here until Tuesday night, when Blair reappeared in Hanford and secured lodgings at the Western hotel. Wednesday evening Blair boarded a train for Selma. Before going he bought clothing and seemed to be flush with money.

At the coroner's instigation Blair was arrested in Selma yesterday. His father, Asher Blair, accompanied him and the arresting officer to Hanford.

At the inquest Blair said he got out of the buggy and left Peterson, when a stranger came up and began talking Swedish, and that when he walked back to the place half an hour later the buggy was gone. He said he remained in Hanford all night Tuesday until Wednesday evening, waiting for Peterson to return. His statements are so conflicting, however, that the jury rendered a verdict charging him with murder and charging his father as an accessory, though there is little evidence implicating the latter.

A man answering Blair's description was seen in the buggy with Peterson Tuesday afternoon near the scene of death, and the jury argued Blair could have committed the crime and returned to town Tuesday night.

The Blairs are woodchoppers. Young Blair has always been regarded as halfwitted.

TEMPORARILY EMBARRASSED

An Irrigation Company in the Hands of a Receiver.

SAN BERNARDINO, December 9.—On petition of the Allesandro Irrigation district the superior court has appointed F. P. Morrison receiver for the Bear Valley Irrigation Company. The company has a capital stock of $4,000,000, and until recently paid dividends of 15 per cent on that amount. The company supplies a large part of San Bernardino county with water.

Four Men Drowned.

NEW ORLEANS, December 9.—While a party of men from New Orleans were endeavoring to cross the Mississippi at College Point, in St. James parish, in a skiff, the boat was caught in an eddy and capsized. There were nine men in it at the time. Five swam to shore. The other four, being unable to swim, clung to the boat, and, becoming chilled by the cold water, dropped off one by one and were drowned. Their names were George Bishop, Walter Huel, William Edwards and August Caerway.

The Effect of "Tariff Reform."

ST. JOHNS, N. B., December 9.—With a return to the former rate of duty, as proposed by the Wilson bill, every limekiln near this city, thirty-five of which have been closed since the McKinley law went into operation, will be in active duty again. The trade which went to Rockland, Me., will return here, and in a short time the production of lime will be giving employment to hundreds of men, and its export will reach more than $1,000,000 in value annually.

Ran Over a Child.

SACRAMENTO, December 9.—Yesterday the little child of Professor Kinross, a music teacher, while playing in the street was run over by the wagon of a Chinese vegetable vender and was badly hurt. Kinross caught the Chinese, pulled him from the wagon, gave him a severe beating and then had him arrested.

Temporarily Closed.

WALLA WALLA, December 9.—At a meeting of the directors of the Walla Walla Savings bank this evening it was decided to go into liquidation and the doors will not be opened Monday morning. The embarrassment is due to the general stringency and low price of wheat.

A Bank Robbed.

DALLAS, Tex., December 8.—The Plano National bank, twelve miles north of here, was robbed by burglars last night. The robbers are supposed to be the Dalton gang. They secured between $6000 and $8000.

A State Politician Dead.

BENICIA, December 9.—Lansing B. Mizner, who was always conspicuous in state politics and who was minister to Central America during the Barrundia incident, died of dropsy of the heart this afternoon.

Cleveland's Jaw.

NEW YORK, December 9.—Dr. Bryant, President Cleveland's physician, denies the statement published this morning that another operation had been performed on the President's jaw.

Pugilist Monihan Liberated.

RENO, December 9.—Pugilist Monihan was set at liberty yesterday, in accordance with an order from the justice of the peace granting his discharge.

STRAWBERRIES IN WINTER.

Score Another for Fresno Climate—Berry Growing Profitable.

A. M. Munger, who lives three miles west of the city, on the White Bridge road, brought two boxes of fine ripe strawberries to THE REPUBLICAN office yesterday, grown in the open air, and as finely colored and richly flavored as could be desired.

Mr. Munger is probably the most successful berry grower in the county on a small scale. He has 1500 plants and has had an abundance of berries every day since the 15th of last April. Besides what the family has consumed he has sold $75 worth of berries in this market.

Mr. Munger also raises a superior variety of dewberry, and now has about three acres of these vines which will be in bearing the coming season. Last season the profit of the vines in bearing was 32 cents for each vine. These vines are planted in rows, 4x6 feet, and there are 1750 to the acre. It will be seen from this that the profit per acre is enormous.

EGEL AGAIN ARRESTED.

He Threatened His Wife With Bodily Harm.

Ernest Egel, who was arrested a few days ago for beating his wife, was again arrested last night on complaint of his wife, who charges him with threatening to kill her.

On the occasion of his last arrest, Egel was let off with a light fine—$10—but the brute will fare worse this time. He had no sooner paid his fine the other day than he went home and immediately began abusing his wife.

The neighbors of the Egels are very much worked up over the fellow's brutality, and have been talking of giving him a coat of tar and feathers.

Egel claims that his domestic troubles arose from his wife's intemperance, but she denies this absolutely.

A DYNAMITE BOMB

DROPPED INTO THE FRENCH CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES.

Nearly a Hundred People Wounded. Excitement in Paris at a High Pitch.

PARIS, December 9.—An anarchist threw a dynamite bomb from the gallery in the chamber of deputies this afternoon while the chamber was in session, which exploded with terrific force in mid air between the gallery and the floor.

A scene of the wildest excitement ensued.

The police immediately formed a cordon about the building, and made many arrests, among them one said to be the man who threw the bomb.

Late tonight it is announced the police have in custody a man who, on entering, refused to remove his overcoat when requested in the cloak room, and again at the entrance of the tribune. The man referred to is wounded and was among the first carried out.

Up to the present time fifty wounded persons have passed through the hands of Dr. Bletalune. Altogether over eighty persons were wounded. Besides numerous commissaries called to the chamber by Fournier, fifty police agents have been busily engaged in accompanying to their homes all persons permitted to leave the building, in order to verify their identity.

A FINE ENTERTAINMENT

To Be Given by the Uniformed Rank K. of P.

On the 23d of this month the Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias, will give a dramatic and military entertainment at the Barton house. The knights have made great preparations, and have been rehearsing diligently the past two weeks, and something unusually good may be expected.

The dramatic part of the entertainment will consist of an amusing burlesque pretending to expose the initiation ceremonies of secret societies. There will also be given a series of brilliant military tableaux.

The military part is to consist of a sword drill, fancy drills and fencing. Several experts with the foils will give an exhibition of their skill. The knights never do anything of this kind by halves. Their entertainments have been among the most enjoyable given here, and the approaching one will no doubt add to their reputation in this regard. There will be a rehearsal on Monday night.

Ought to Be in the Pulpit.

From the San Francisco Post.

Evans may escape the halter and the penitentiary, but some of his persecutors will not go free if the high-minded Senator Goucher can get justice done. He has brought out proof that a party of the bloodthirsty pursuers of the injured Mr. Evans and the lamblike Sontag stopped their man hunt one day to steal and eat a watermelon. Mr. Goucher is wasted on the law. His place is in the pulpit.

A Fortune For Mrs. Drayton.

Mrs. Coleman Drayton is once again domiciled in her former home on Fifth avenue. She has just engaged her servants for the winter, and is well equipped as to comfort in regard to housekeeping and ease in entertaining. For all this present and prospective luxury she has her brother, Mr. John Jacob Astor, to thank, he having settled the house on her for life, as well as given her $1,000,000 outright. Society commends Mr. Astor for making this very liberal gift to his sister.—New York World.

PROTECTING THE QUEEN

She Fears Violence From Foreigners.

EXCITEMENT AMONG NATIVES

Great Britain to Be Applied to for Protection in Case of Restoration.

[Copyrighted, 1893, by the Associated Press.]

SAN FRANCISCO, December 9.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press via barkentine W. G. Irwin, Honolulu, November 22.]—The ex-Queen has applied to the provisional government for protection, claiming that she fears violence from foreign residents. The government at once granted the request and a detail of six police are guarding Washington palace in three watches of two men each.

When the natives discovered the police stationed around the ex-Queen's residence considerable excitement ensued among them, as the fact that the ex-Queen had applied to the provisional government had not leaked out and the natives supposed the government had the ex-Queen under surveillance.

Walter G. Smith, editor of the Hawaiian Star, was arrested for libel several days ago on complaint of ex-Marshal Wilson, on account of the publication of an exposure of Wilson's embezzlements and of his notorious relations with the Queen. Smith said that when the case came to trial he intended to place the ex-Queen on the stand.

Smith was arrested, but in the next issue returned hotter shot than before. Wilson then threatened to assassinate the editor, whereupon the latter armed himself and took occasion to pass the ex-marshal repeatedly on the street, but as yet there has been no bloodshed.

Since the arrival of the British ship Champion a rumor has been set afloat from native sources that, in case of restoration, the ex-Queen will apply to Great Britain for future protection of the monarchy. It is stated from the best authority that such will be the future policy of the monarchy.

FORCE WILL BE NECESSARY.

OMAHA, December 9.—Minister Thurston of Hawaii passed through Omaha at 2.30. He was shown the Associated Press dispatch from Auckland by a representative of the Associated Press and did not appear surprised by the news contained therein. "The provisional government cannot now be overthrown except by force," said Thurston, "and the announcement that force would be necessary to keep the Queen on the throne should she be restored is correct."

THE WEST SIDE SETTLERS

The Republican's Efforts in Their Behalf Commended.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I send you the following from the Examiner, showing that a few of us interested in the disputed West Side lands are making a hard fight against big odds to secure justice:

"Active efforts are being made by the Fresno county landholders whom the Southern Pacific Company are seeking to eject, to persuade congress to legislate them out of their troubles. The correspondence which has taken place between the landholders, Washington officials and railroad attorneys was fully published in yesterday's Examiner. John Daw, who is prominently identified with the interests of the farmers, states that they will concentrate their efforts toward getting congress to pass a bill authorizing the attorney general to defend on behalf of the government the suits in ejection which the railroad company has brought in the federal court at Los Angeles.

"'Attorney Madden's statement contained in his letter to me, published in today's Examiner, to the effect that the court has determined in favor of the ownership of the railroad, is a mistake. They were successful in the case against Wiggs and Newman, but the facts in that case were not the same as in ours. None of the present suits have been decided and we will urge the government to defend the title which they sold to us. Then if the court decides that the railroad has owned the land all along we shall again look to the government to pay the railroad the price it now asks of us. This is only equitable. Fully 3000 individuals are concerned, and a great hardship will be wrought if the government refuses to assist us.'"

I perceive you for one use taking an upright, laudable attitude as regards the right the Southern Pacific railroad is making to secure the lieu lands on the West Side, or rather the big bluff they are trying to play and the manner in which it (the corporation) is working or rather subverting principle and perverting the true facts. Go on, sir, in your good work and tell the holders of the patents for these lands not to be hoodwinked by any person or corporation, but to insist on their rights; and if by any hocus pocus arrangement the lands may be declared to belong to the railroad (which I for one contend cannot possibly happen), then let all combine to make a stand and insist on the government, through congress, making just amends. J. DAW.

A NEAT PAMPHLET.

Advertising the Resources of Fresno County.

One of the neatest pamphlets advertising Fresno county and its resources that have come to THE REPUBLICAN'S notice is that recently issued by M. Theo Kearney, entitled, "How to Make Money."

Mr. Kearney is the well known proprietor of the Fruitvale estate near Fresno, but while he describes the good points of that property he has wisely and modestly given the county in general the the lion's share of the space.

The pamphlet is filled with finely executed colored half tone engravings, representing vineyard, orchard and city scenes. The descriptive articles were mostly from THE REPUBLICAN and the Expositor, and, with those from other newspapers, give an excellent account of the county.

RENEW THE BATTLE.

The fight to secure and maintain a duty on foreign raisins and currants adequate to the conditions surrounding home production, must not be allowed to rest where it is. It must be carried forward vigorously, and at once.

The raisin growers of California cannot afford to allow the Wilson bill to become a law in its present form if it lies within their power to prevent it, and it is more than possible that if prompt and active measures are adopted, that it can be prevented. The fight in all probability will have to be made in the senate, as it is more than likely that the house will pass the Wilson bill substantially as it comes from the committee, and it is also probable that such amendments as may be secured in the senate will be concurred in by the house. This being the case, not a moment should be lost in laying the situation regarding the raisin industry and its relation to foreign protection before the senate committee, where less frantic zeal for tariff "reform" and more sympathy for home industry can be found, it is reasonable to expect, than in the like committee of the house, which has already ignored the appeals which the producers have made to it.

The committee which goes to Washington should demand, in the interest of a great and growing home industry, that the present low duty on raisins be maintained, and that a duty of not less than 1½ cents per pound be placed upon Zante currants, so called. In so doing the committee will be clearly within the bounds of reason and justice to all concerned, and that much American producers have a right to demand at the hands of the law-making power.

It can be shown conclusively that the present duty on raisins barely equalizes the difference in cost of labor and transportation, and only serves to put the home producer on an equal footing with his foreign competitor. It can also be shown that the so-called Zante currant is in fact a small seedless raisin, and that its unrestricted importation is a menace to the continued existence of the raisin industry in this country.

The Zante currant was placed upon the free list by a Republican administration clearly and confessedly through a misapprehension. The avowed aim and purpose of the McKinley law was to adjust the duties necessary for the purposes of revenue so that they would afford the greatest possible measure of protection to home industry, compatible with the ability of the various domestic industries to supply the home market. It was represented to congress by the importers of foreign fruits and raisins at that time that no currants were produced in this country, in a commercial sense, and hence that foreign currants should come in free in the interests of the consumers. This statement was not disputed by the producers of domestic raising, and as a consequence Zante currants went on the free list. The fact is that the so-called currants are a small seedless raisin, produced by the cheapest labor in the world, and they come directly in competition with the seedless raisins, and in fact with all the cheaper grades of cooking raisins produced in this country.

The truth may as well be known that unless a tariff is placed upon these alleged currants that the production of seedless raisins and all the cheaper grades of raisins will have to stop in this country until such time as labor can be found willing to subsist upon a few cents per day.

Zante currants are now selling in the New York market at less than 1½ cents per pound, and can be laid down in the San Francisco market for less than 2½ cents per pound. It is idle to talk about competing with such prices as these while the cost of production is based upon American wages.

These are the plain facts in the case, and if they do not demand prompt and energetic action, we must confess to a misunderstanding of the situation.

Just what to do, and how to do it, the raisin growers must determine for themselves. A. B. Butler, the largest raisin grower in the state, proposes to join any committee which may be selected, and will go to Washington, pay his own expenses, and stay so long as may be necessary. If two or three other influential growers will volunteer their services it will only be necessary to call a meeting of growers to indorse the committee and outline a plan of action, and the movement to save the principal industry of this great valley from destruction will be set in motion.

Mr. Butler is a prominent Democrat, but he is also a business man who sees that the industry to which he has devoted years of time and large capital is at stake, and he proposes that his interests shall not be sacrificed if he can prevent it.

The interests of Democrats and Republicans are identical in this matter, and it is the opinion of THE REPUBLICAN that for the present politics should be subordinated to what now appears to be a life or death struggle for an industry upon which the future of this portion of the county so largely depends. It is no time for hair splitting or quibbling.

An income tax is not repugnant to American idea. It is only repugnant to Republicans, who always favor the wealthy classes, for it is from the rich that the most campaign fat is fried to advance the interests of the g. o. p.—Visalia Times.

Republicans are not objecting to the income tax, except inasmuch as it is proposed to remove the duty on foreign goods to the extent which a revenue is produced by the tax on incomes. The class of foreign goods most largely consumed in this country show that the rich pay such portion of the duty as the foreigner does not pay for the privilege of getting into our market. Why, then, the Republicans ask, should a tax be taken from the wealthy which they cannot avoid paying to be placed in such shape that honest payment will be easy to evade? As to frying fat out of the deft for campaign purposes, the less Democrats say about that since the Van Alen incident the less attention they will attract to the odor from their own rendering works.

The Santa Fe railroad announces that it has put on a weekly refrigerator-car service between Los Angeles, Kansas City, Denver and Chicago and intermediate points per passenger train, the time to be seven days to Chicago. Shippers will be allowed to ship any amount of any kind of fruit or vegetables they may desire, and can have their shipments put in the car at any point on the Southern California road and unloaded at the terminals named or any intermediate point.

Commenting on this important and liberal concession to the producers and shippers of California fruits and vegetables, the Sacramento Bee says: "In the latter part of 1885 our local cyclone and injector of ideas, David Lubin, endeavored to convince the Southern Pacific Company that it ought to accept portions of carloads of fruit for certain eastern destinations at the same rate as entire carloads, and thus give the small shipper an opportunity of dealing direct with the eastern market. The idea was too revolutionary at the time, however, and dismayed even the public. Some time ago William H. Mills, who, although a director in the Southern Pacific Company and a number of its leased lines, is perhaps closer in touch with the people of the state and the march of events as effecting railroad interests than any other official connected with the great corporation, surprised the state and doubtless his associates by going even further than Mr. Lubin and urging that fruit be not only accepted in portions of carloads for shipment to certain Eastern destinations, but that it be carried in any quantity to any place, at the option of the shipper, exactly as is done with other freight.

"The Southern Pacific, however, made no change in its policy of accepting only carload lots—whether from disinclination or because arrangements could not be made with connecting Eastern lines, is not known. Now, however, that the Santa Fe road has adopted this system and given Southern California the benefit thereof, the Southern Pacific company cannot afford longer to hold back. The adoption of this system would undoubtedly help to move advantageously for grower and transportation companies the fruit which, under conditions such as those of last year, must lie on the ground or be moved at great risk and loss to grower, which reacts on the transportation lines in the business of the state."

Some California contemporaries would like to see a panorama of eastern winter substituted at the Midwinter Fair for the proposed hell. But it would certainly be impolite for Californians to remind eastern visitors of their place of punishment and omit an exhibition of that which is in store for themselves.

The admonition to prepare for the change which awaits us has an added significance since the Wilson bill hove in sight. Eastern merchants are already begging for more time in which to get ready for the fatal day.

Tulare county has given up the idea of exhibiting a model irrigated farm at the Midwinter Fair. The products of that sort of farm will be the best evidence of the benefits of irrigation.

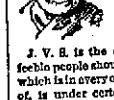
Old People.



J. V. S. is the only Sarsaparilla that old or feeble people should take, as the mineral potash which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be emaciating. J. V. S. on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old, delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Belden an estimable and elderly lady of 512 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. It got so bad that she was finally afflicted with fainting spells. She writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. S. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and strength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs. Belden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J. V. S.

Commissioner's Sale.

In the Superior Court of the County of Fresno, State of California.

Jay Brandling, Plaintiff, vs. William F. Wolters and Mary C. Wolters, defendants.

UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF A DECREE of foreclosure and order of sale, issued out of the Superior Court of Fresno County, State of California, on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1893, in the above entitled action, wherein Jay Brandling, plaintiff above named, obtained a judgment and decree of foreclosure and sale against William F. Wolters and Mary C. Wolters, defendants in said action, on the 10th day of August, A. D. 1893, for two hundred, fifty-six and 10-100 dollars ($256.10), in gold coin of the United States, besides interest and accruing costs, which said decree was on said 10th day of August, 1893, duly entered and recorded in the records of said court, I am commanded to sell all those certain lots of land situate in Fresno county, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Lots number eight (8) and nine (9) in block number fifteen (15) of Grand Avenue Park, according to official map of said Grand Avenue Park now on file in office of County Recorder of said County of Fresno.

Public notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 18th day of December, A. D. 1893, at 12 o'clock m., of that day, in front of the court house in said town, in the City of Fresno, State of California, Fresno County of Fresno, I will, in obedience to said decree of foreclosure and order of sale, sell above described property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment, with interest and accruing costs, to highest and best bidder, for gold coin of United States.

Dated, this November 22d, 1893.

O. Scrivener,
Commissioner appointed by the court in said action.

SOME DISCREPANCIES

Eva and Winnifred Evans Testify.

WILL SMITH'S MYSTERIOUS SHOT

Chris Evans' Daughters Contradict the Testimony of Smith and Witty.

At the opening of court yesterday morning in the Evans case Clarke Moore was recalled and questioned on a few unimportant points.

Judge Harris then took up the legal point raised the day before with regard to whether Eva Evans might testify to what she told her father at Wilcox canyon two weeks after the fight at Evans' house, to show what threats had been communicated to Evans before the fight at Young's cabin.

He read sections 100 and 101 of "Greenleaf on Evidence" on the subject of hearsay evidence, citing the cases of People vs. Shay, 8 Cal., 539, and State vs. Hudgins, "First Criminal Defences," 470, otherwise cited as "Second Georgia Reports."

Judge Harris, after discussing the phases presented, held that any statement made by Eva Evans to the defendant with regard to threats against him, or the organization of mobs, etc., are competent evidence, but that any opinion, advice, suggestion or conclusion of her own was held to be incompetent. Therefore, her statements would be admitted, but she would not be allowed to testify to her opinions.

Eva Evans was then recalled, and stated that at her mother's direction, she went to her Grandmother Byrd's place in Wilcox canyon about two weeks after the fight at the Evans house in Visalia, August 5, 1892, and met her father there, as arranged through the letter sent by Mrs. Rutherford.

THREATS OF LYNCHING.

She took with her the daily papers from Visalia and told him that there were a number of strange armed men in town, posses were being organized to pursue him and if captured people said he would be lynched.

She also told him of different conversations with people to the effect that if he should be caught neither the jail of Fresno nor Tulare counties would be strong enough to hold him against a mob. She told him of the armed men she had seen about the streets, said to be from Arizona, and the Indian trailers. Among those seen by her were Burke and Wilson and the Indians, Pelon and Cameon.

She told him that she had been informed that they were going in pursuit of him. She also related to him what Jack Camlin of the Palace hotel had told her about a conversation of Vic Wilson's which he overheard.

NOTCHES ON HIS GUN STOCK.

Camlin stated that Wilson was talking to some men at the hotel and said that he was going up there in the mountains after Sontag and Evans and would not give them any chances. He had twenty-seven notches recorded on his gun stock of the men he had killed, and that Sontag and Evans would make twenty-nine.

Wilson said that he had come up to fetch them out and that one or the other would never come out of the mountains alive, and that if any of them had any money to bet, to bet it that Evans would come out of the mountains on a stretcher.

The witness said she had heard the names of the posse and named the members of the posse which was at Young's cabin when Wilson was killed, with the exception of McGinness and Warren Hill. She told her father at that time all that Camlin had told her, and also that she had heard that the posse intended to make a fighting arrest and did not intend to give him any chance.

Father said he would avoid them if possible as he did not want to get into any more trouble than he was in already. She told him also that it was not safe for him to come home as there were crowds around the house all the time since August 5th, and that after dark they would come into the yard and barn.

THE EVANS SIGHTWATCH.

Eva then testified that she had seen men about the house, and that they stood guard every night around their home, evidently looking for him. She took to him all the papers that had been printed since the fight, and they talked over what was contained in them about himself and Sontag.

THE EVANS HOUSE.

Eva then drew a diagram of the Evans house, which was said to be about 18x20 feet in size. On the west side of the building about one-third of the interior was cut off by a thin board partition, and this space was again divided into two bedrooms, the one on the south being the larger of the two, and was used by her mother.

This bedroom opened into the sitting room by means of a portiere at the northeast corner, and had a window on the south side looking out on the front porch. The sitting room occupied the remainder of the southeast portion of the house, having a door on the south side about the middle of the building opening on the front porch, and a window east of the door.

The northwest corner was partitioned off into a bedroom for the children, with a narrow hall between it, and Eva's bedroom in the northwest corner. This hall was opposite the front door and led from the sitting room to the back porch. This porch extended from the hall east along the building, connecting with the kitchen, which was a small detached building at the northeast corner, the space between it and the house being roofed over and converted into a hallway. On the south side a porch ran the length of the building. A fence some distance away incloses it on the south and west side, and while the house faces south, the entrance is from the street on the west side. The barn stood to the east of the house, Mrs. Byrd's house to the south, and Mr. Howell's house to the west across the street.

THE MIDNIGHT SEARCH.

Eva then stated that she told her father about a search made of the premises by Sheriff Kay and Detective Thacker. They came to the house about 1 o'clock one night and called her mother out and told her they had heard that Evans and Sontag were there and they wanted to search the place.

Her mother took a lamp with her and went in front of the officers down to the barn, and after they had searched the place she asked if they wanted to search the house and they said they did not and went away. There were 10 or 15 men standing outside the fence at the time, and the officers told her that a relative of Oscar Beaver, who was with the posse, wanted to shoot into the house or burn it down, and they had to disarm him.

On cross-examination she stated that the residence of her grandmother, Mrs. Byrd, was about fifty yards south. She was at home August 5th. Howell's house was about forty yards west. She had been at Mrs. Byrd's about 9 that morning for a few minutes; did not stay long; was busy getting ready to go to the mountains.

Did not see John Sontag at Byrd's that morning; was positive of that; saw him in the morning; he came into the kitchen a minute about 9 o'clock; she went to the orchard for some peaches and left him in there; when she came back he had gone.

Had not seen Smith and Witty that morning; saw George Sontag; he was in the house when she came back from grandma's; don't know how long he remained; did not know George had gone away with Smith and Witty; heard nothing said about that matter before the shooting; was at the house from 9 a.m. until the shooting.

She was not allowed to testify to the time that Sontag and Evans returned home on August 4th; she saw her father early the morning of the 5th; he was around the house.

WITTY AND SMITH ARRIVE.

First she saw of the officers that day was when Smith and Witty arrived, about 1 oclock. Had not had dinner yet. She was sitting in the sitting room at the sewing machine, with her back to the door. No one in the room but Winnie. Had been there about five minutes. Winnie was in the room when she went in. Think she was reading.

Did not know where John was; thought father was in the barn, and that John had gone up town.

Smith said: "Where's Sontag?"

I said "I don't know; if you want to see him I'll go and see if I can find him."

He said, "You're a liar; I saw him enter this house not five minutes ago."

I said nothing, but went out through the hall to the back porch and told father what they wanted and what Smith said to me. He stepped into my bedroom and picked up a six-shooter and went into the sitting room; Sontag came out of mother's bedroom after father came into the sitting room.

CRIES DID NOT SHOOT.

Don't remember how father carried his pistol; he had no shotgun; couldn't tell who did all the shooting; saw Witty running; father after him; ran out of the gate and over to Howell's house, when they got out of sight.

As father came back I saw Witty's pistol twenty or thirty steps north of the path and picked it up. I stayed on the front porch until father came back; did not see father fire on Witty, or shoot at all, at any one or any time.

Door to mother's bedroom had a portiere which was closed. Missed John about half an hour or more about noon. He roomed at Grandma's; Father did not have a shotgun. John had a breechloader, which was kept in mother's back room. It belonged to John. All the arms in the house were this shotgun, a six-shooter and a thirty-eight calibre Ballard rifle.

Papa came back, and I helped him change his carpet slippers and put on shoes; helped John put on his coat, which was on a fig tree. They both left the room, and I don't know which way they went. Did not see them take the buggy.

When John came out of the room father was near the men at the door and the center of the room. John came out of the bedroom. During the conversation between father and the officers I did not hear them call him a liar.

THAT MYSTERIOUS SHOT.

Smith stepped in quick and drew his revolver from under his duster and fired. At that time had not seen Sontag at all.

Did not see which way Smith shot; cannot tell which way he shot; he did not shoot at father; saw a flash and smoke; never saw any bullethole; Sontag came out just then and Smith and Witty ran out and the others followed.

Never saw any bullet hole in the room, nor heard of anyone seeing any; Smith shot before he stepped forward towards the portiere of the room.

Know Mrs. Perry Byrd and her daughter Edith, who is my cousin.

"Did you have a conversation with Mrs. Perry Byrd in the presence of Edith at her house after the inquest on the body of Oscar Beaver in which you stated to her about Smith and Witty that at the time of the shooting you were at your grandmother Byrd's house?"

"I did not."

"Did not, in your father's house between August 20th and September 3d, in the presence of Mrs. Perry Byrd, your cousin Edith ask, 'Why are you so persistent in saying that Smith insulted you, and you in answer say that you couldn't think of anything else to say against Smith?'"

"Why, no!"

SOMEWHAT MIXED.

Mr. Tupper then questioned her about what Jack Camlin had told her about Wilson, Burke and the Indians two days before she went to Wilcox canyon, and she became very much mixed up as to whether she told her father the names of the Indians or not.

She had only seen two men on the streets with guns; could only name Jack Camlin and the driver of the butcher wagon she had talked to about lynching, and saw 15 or 20 men assembled at the Palace hotel, and heard they were getting up a posse.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Told her father that Indian trailers and bloodhounds were to be put after him.

Had a conversation with George Sontag in the Fresno jail in August; don't remember telling him that John came to the door with two shotguns and handed father one; don't remember what I did tell him about Smith calling me a liar.

Witness' evidence on the redirect examination was then read by which it appears that Sontag came out before Smith fired, and on her cross-examination she said it was after the shot.

On redirect examination she stated she told her father at Wilcox canyon that the Indian trailers were expected, and not that they had come, and materially modified what Camlin had told her. The remainder of the testimony was not particularly interesting.

A TWICE TOLD TALE.

Winnifred Evans was then recalled to testify about the beginning of the fight August 5th, and while she corroborated in the main the evidence of her sister, there were some differences.

She had seen Smith and Witty at the house that morning; George Sontag went off with them.

She claimed that Eva was at the sewing machine when she came in; also that Smith told her father that he lied, about Sontag; that John Sontag stepped about before Smith shot, and placed Chris and John up by the hall door together, instead of locating her father down between the front door and the center of the room, and some other minor discrepancies.

Eva Evans was then recalled and stated that the Perry Byrd and Evans families were not on good terms at present. She charged that Perry Byrd had betrayed her father into the hands of the officers at Stone Corral, and that the former friendship was off.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAID.

The defense then read a number of long articles from the Visalia Times and Delta, from August 6th up, and John Tom Bates was called to explain how Clarke Moore came to be guide for Henry Bigelow in October, 1892.

Franklin Farris was called to corroborate Clarke Moore, and was still on the witness stand when court adjourned to Monday morning.

THE MISSING GIRLS.

THEIR WHEREABOUTS IS STILL UNKNOWN.

The Relatives of the Girls Anxious to Have Them Return.

The two Oakland girls reported missing in yesterday's REPUBLICAN have not yet been found. Exacter particulars concerning their movements since they left the family they were visiting here have been obtained from neighbors.

They left their host two weeks ago yesterday and stayed that night with friends. They returned on Sunday, the next day, and went away again on Monday, saying they were going to visit the younger's relatives in the foothills. An expressman came for their baggage.

Instead of this, however, they went to the lodgings over an I street saloon, mentioned in yesterday's REPUBLICAN, and remained there until about Thursday, the 30th ult. On that day they left this place and stayed until last Tuesday or Wednesday with a reputable family in the western part of town. They left this family stating they were going to Oakland, but only took a valise with them.

Their friends have searched for them diligently, but have not been able to find them. The girls did not go to Oakland, as they said they would, for they have been seen here by several persons. The police have been notified of their disappearance, but seem to be peculiarly unsuccessful in locating them.

It is stated that some bad advisers of the girls told them that their relatives were very angry at their conduct and had made threats against them. This is false. All of the girls' relatives do not know of their unfortunate action, and those that do are more grieved than angry. They will be glad to welcome the girls back home and hope they will listen no further to bad counsel. If they return all will be forgiven and forgotten.

It seems that the police in their search for the girls have made a mistake or two, as the following letter from an indignant citizen indicates:

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I desire to call the attention of the public to an article in your paper relative to two missing girls. What I desire to make known is, what appears between the lines of the article. The lodging house on I street where the girls were supposed to be is nothing more nor less than the private residence of a widow and her two daughters. They recently arrived here from Nevada, and rented the so-termed lodging house from Mr. Einstein. The young men who were seen going there—three in number, not two—called upon the lady to procure from her an affidavit for a pension.

Now, for the so-called officers: One of them approached the front door, like a thief by night, and the other made a cold sneak for the back door. The lady of the house, by mere accident, opened the back door and found the knight in blue there awaiting developments. At once he broke forth with a tirade of abuse, insults and most boisterous language. He demanded the names of all the persons living in the house, and wanted to see them. When he was told that only the widow and her two daughters lived there he went to consult his other official intruder, and both made a mechanical apology and left.

The old idea that every man's house is his castle no longer exists where so-called men, under the assumed role of official characters, break in upon the domestic felicity of a home, because they once saw a trunk being moved into a house, then three men go in, and two girls from Oakland jumped a rail some place. Will the officers explain their conduct?

CITIZEN.

AMUSEMENTS.

Charles L. Davis in "Alvin Joslin" at the Barton Friday.

Manager Barton has another big attraction Friday night, December 15th, in the appearance of Charles L. Davis in his universally famed character creation of "Alvin Joslin," a play that has been so extensively written up in the last fifteen years, and is so well and favorably known in every city in America, that extended comment seems superfluous.

Everybody who goes to a play house has heard of or knows Charles L. Davis, or "Alvin Joslin," as he is popularly called. He is as distinct a figure as Joshua Whitcomb, Rip Van Winkle, Colonel Mulberry Sellers and others that have found favor with American audiences. For nearly sixteen years Uncle Alvin has toured the states, making millions laugh at his eccentricities, quaint sayings and awkward maneuvers. He is the originator of the Yankee farmer, and has played the part constantly since its first production, having made several fortunes, and is considered one of the most prosperous managers of the profession. He is the owner of the famed Alvin theater of Pittsburg, the most complete and richly equipped theater in the world. The company with Mr. Davis is promised to be a select one, and the scenery adjuncts and details for a satisfactory performance are said to be the best. Alvin Joslin affords Mr. Davis the means of giving a portraiture of a character that is sufficiently unique. Mr. Davis' "Alvin" is full of originality. There is no sense of effort in what he does. The star has surrounded himself with a fine company, and altogether it is one of the most delightful performances of the season.

THE RAISIN.

Its Great Value as an Article of Food.

There are many people, even among the raisin growers themselves, entirely ignorant of the fact that raisins are good for something else besides being incorporated with a "plum" pudding or put on the table to be devoured with almonds. Many palate tickling and stomach satisfying dishes can be made with the raisin as chief tickler and satisfier.

Miss Jeannie Carr Sanders has written to THE REPUBLICAN, making the very sensible suggestion that, in order to induce people to use Fresno fruits, we should tell them how to use them, and to practice what she preaches, sends in a recipe for a raisin duff, which we are sure the gods will be willing to substitute for their ambrosia. The intricacies of its manufacture are explained as follows:

"Duff for Six—Put two quarts of water on to boil in a wide-topped kettle. Add one quart of clean, seedless Fresno raisins. As soon as the water boils sift in flour, stirring rapidly, while the flour is being sifted in. Continue sifting in the flour and stirring until no flour can be stirred in. Serve hot.

"Sauce for the Duff—Melt in a large skillet a piece of butter or fresh lard, the size of an egg. Dredge a large spoonful of flour into this. Add at once a quart of Fresno wine, spiced and sweetened to taste; boil five minutes. Claret makes a sour sauce; Angelica or Port makes a sweet sauce. The spices that we prefer are finely ground nutmeg, mace or cinnamon. Such as have scruples against using wine can use instead Fresno wine vinegar, diluted and spiced to taste. Sweetened cream is also an excellent sauce for the duff."

To prove its confidence in this recipe, THE REPUBLICAN is willing to eat a big plate of the duff. It will also, to encourage the use of raisins and for the information of housewives in general, publish any recipes for dishes to be made with raisins that may be sent to this office. They must be brief, however.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

An Interesting Program Provided for the Occasion.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the State Teachers' Association will be held at Stockton, December 26th to 29th inclusive. The program has just been published and indicates that the pedagogues will have an interesting and instructive convention.

The president of the association is T. J. Kirk, superintendent of schools of this county, who will conduct the proceedings. The teachers will be welcomed by Mayor W. R. Clark of Stockton. Responses will be made by President T. J. Kirk and others.

Among the prominent educators who will attend are President David Starr Jordan of Stanford, Professor Earl Barnes and Miss Margaret E. Schallenberger, also of Stanford, Martin Kellogg, C. H. Keyes, Elmer E. Brown and others.

At the Thursday afternoon session F. H. Short of this city will deliver an address on "Some Modern Necessities in Education." Miss Anna M. Nicholson of Madera is down for a paper of mathematics.

A large number of teachers of this county will attend the convention. The railroad has granted the usual one-third return rates, and a ten-days' extension of time on the tickets will be given to members that they may visit the Midwinter Fair, which opens on the first day of the new year.

NO CESSATION.

Business Continues Active at the White Front Stores.

There is one place in Fresno where buying and selling continues right along in uninterrupted activity during business hours, day after day and week after week, and that place, as everybody knows, is the White Front Stores. During the past week the rush has been greater than ever, on account of the grand holiday sale now going on there. People are taking advantage of the wonderful bargains offered in all departments of this popular establishment and as purchaser after purchaser informs their neighbors of the cheapness of the prices at this sale the crowds attending continue to increase in numbers. All Fresno county will have made purchases there when the sale closes on Christmas eve. *

We announce with pleasure the coming to this city of those distinguished physicians and surgeons who have so well established the Hudson Medical Institute. These physicians treat all chronic and nervous ailments. If you suffer from catarrh, nervous debility, nervous excess, losses, rheumatism, piles, female afflictions, consult with the physicians who will be at the Plensanton Hotel on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th. The old Hudson Medical Institute is now a household name; its physicians are indorsed by every paper in every county in California; all these papers reflect public sentiment and concur in saying the Hudson Medical Institute is the most reliable institute on the Pacific coast. Its specialists will be at the Plensanton Hotel from Wednesday, December 13th, till Saturday, December 16th, inclusive. Young man, do you wish to read about the pitfalls of young men? Send for lecture, free. Hudson Medical Institute, 1032 Market street, San Francisco.*

THE MIDWINTER FAIR

FRESNO SENDS THE FIRST EXCURSION THERE.

A Promenade Concert to Be Given by Fresno Ladies Soon.

About fifty persons went on the excursion to San Francisco yesterday for the purpose of visiting the Midwinter Fair grounds. The excursionists will have Sunday and Monday in which to see the sights and will return Tuesday morning. Among those who went were the following:

Supervisor R. B. Butler, Supervisor Sayre, Supervisor Foster, Supervisor Wickersham, E. B. Perrin, D. W. Parkhurst, C. Chisholm, E. B. Rogers and wife, John D. Gray, County Clerk Shepard, George C. Roeding, D. D. Allison, William Fahey, Mrs. George Bernard, F. M. Chittenden, J. Waterman, M. Hart, J. C. Nourse, R. H. Hansen, W. Glass, Jacob Vogel, A. Hall, Lee Gray, Frank H. Ball, Alex Goldstein, Sam Shields, District Attorney Firman Church and wife, William Betridge, Louis Gundelfinger, A. B. Butler, W. W. Phillips, W. J. Dickey, Louis Einstein and wife, Tax Collector William Guard, Harry I. Thomas and others.

It is believed the excursionists will return full of enthusiasm of so contagious a kind that its spread will be general and result in Fresno county's having the finest exhibit at the fair.

At a meeting of a number of ladies held in the apartments of Mrs. Fulton G. Berry at the Grand Central hotel it was decided to give a promenade concert at an early date, the proceeds to be used for the county exhibit. There were present Mesdames Fulton G. Berry, T. C. White, George A. Nourse, John Heikeman, J. D. Gray, A. J. Pedlar, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. J. R. White and Miss Nellie Boyd.

Committees were appointed to look after the arrangements, after which the meeting adjourned till next Friday evening.

The following contributions for the county's Midwinter Fair exhibit have been received:

Mrs. J. E. Pollard, a jar of jelly.

Mott Brothers, white Chinese radishes.

Fulton G. Berry, 250 pounds of cluster raisins.

W. W. Cureton, sixty pounds of layer raisins.

Joel V. Williams, Kings river, a quantity of corn on the stalk and on the ear.

J. M. Musick, Letcher, a bunch of oranges.

John P. Miller, Washington colony, fifty pounds of cluster raisins.

S. N. Mitrovich, two cases of fine White Adriatic figs.

Between seven and eight tons of raisins have been received up to date. Six more tons are required.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 121 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."

ANOTHER ERUPTION.

THE STOCKTON GAISER SPOUTETH AGAIN.

The Rock Thrown by a Republican Contributor Greatly Disturbed It.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—In reply to your article under the caption "A Spouting Gaiser," let me say that we often read of people being short—short physically, short mentally, short financially, but the argument of THE REPUBLICAN "on the Sunday question" is so woefully short as to confirm what everbody already knows, to-wit: that some newspapers had best never argue religious questions; if they do, they should either be well grounded in the scriptures or else employ a religious editor.

THE REPUBLICAN may be a good authority on questions of political economy, but some people cannot tell a conference from a presbytery, in ecclesiastical polity, or a health ordinance from a church symbol. A man may understand some questions and not others, as for instance, the college youth, who attempted to lecture an old farmer and enforced his position by the assertion that he had passed through two colleges. "O," says the old farmer, "that's nothing; I had a calf once that sucked two cows, and the more it sucked the bigger calf it got to be." It is a good thing to know that if one is short on argument he may be large physically.

THE REPUBLICAN says that the Jewish rite (circumcision) was simply a "health ordinance." Well, that's good. A writer who in the absence of all scriptural proof would make such a statement ought to be hung—up to dry. He is almost too green to burn well. Paul, Rom. 4:11, said: "He (Abraham) received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had," etc. Yes, it was a health ordinance—for the soul.

Again, "not knowing the scriptures," baptism is made another health ordinance by reason of its bathing properties; but Peter, 3:21, says it is "not the putting away of the filth of the flesh (not bathing), but the answer of a good conscience toward God."

To the non-Christian world the holy Sabbath has become the health ordinance, with bathing, baseball, football, racing, open saloons, open Sunday fair, etc., thrown in as spice. They do not discover its high purpose—a day of rest, of worship; a hallowed day unto God, and for the people.

THE FRESNO REPUBLICAN, in taking issue with Sunday as the Sabbath, possibly believes in Saturday, the seventh day, as the Sabbath. If so, does THE REPUBLICAN keep that day holy? No; I thought not, as I can see no reason why it should observe the Jewish Sabbath any more than the Jewish circumcision or Passover, it not being an Israelite. But does THE REPUBLICAN keep Sunday as the Sabbath? Possibly not. Then what does it keep? Possibly, as it has a Sunday edition, it keeps Sunday as a health ordinance; that is, a health ordinance for its compositors, clerks, editors, carriers, etc.

Well, if it keeps neither Saturday nor Sunday, what in the world is it kicking about? Possibly it has a tender conscience on the subject, and thinks a few rocks thrown at a geyser will afford relief. Relief can only be found in the Lord of the Sabbath, whose holy day is being so wofully desecrated.

THE REPUBLICAN publishes my article pretty full, but, with a shrewdness acquired no doubt in the political arena, leaves out every passage of scripture proving Sunday as the present Sabbath or Lord's day, and yet attacks the article because it upholds that fact. THE REPUBLICAN will not deny, as a historical fact, that the Jewish circumcision unfolded into the Christian baptism, that the Jewish Passover unfolded into the Lord's supper; that the Jewish church unfolded into the Christian church; but THE REPUBLICAN cannot understand how Saturday slid over into Sunday and carried all its sacredness with it. Well, I am not responsible for its dullness of comprehension. I began this article by stating that some papers ought never to argue religious matters, did I not?

If THE FRESNO REPUBLICAN will come out from the alfalfa patch and shake off the hayseed, and raise up its hanging ears, I will endeavor to explain. First, however, I must disavow relationship with THE REPUBLICAN as being one of the animals of pendant ears referred to, but in this matter would rather comply with the health ordinance set forth in Exodus 23-4: "If thou meet thine enemy's ox or ass going astray, thou shalt surely bring it back to Him again." I have not, like Saul, the son of Kish, gone out specially for this purpose (1 Saul, 9-3), but only should I meet such I would want to see them recovered.

THE REPUBLICAN cannot see how "Saturday slid over into Sunday." If Stockton, for instance (and it may occur) should have the capital removed to it from Sacramento, could THE REPUBLICAN see how the slide could take place? It would not be Sacramento sliding over into Stockton, no more than Saturday sliding over into Sunday. Nevertheless, in the same way the fact occurred. Mark 2-28 says: "The Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath."

On the first day of the week the Christians assembled for worship—broke bread, preached, laid by their means for the gospel. Christ and His disciples gave us the example. It is the "Lord's day." It is the Christian's Sabbath. There are some twenty millions of them in the United States who follow the scriptures as presented in Revelation 1-10; John 20-10; Acts 20-7; I. Corinthians 16-20. Read and compare them carefully. Yours for the Christian Sabbath in love, J. M. GAISER.

[The foregoing is not published as an argument, a doctrinal discourse, a logical thesis or a matter of news or interest to the general public, but just to show what a man can do when he tries—our purpose being to engender general content among men with themselves, as at present constituted.—ED.]

ISN'T IT REASONABLE?

C. H. Riege's Suggestion Regarding Holiday Shopping.

Many people who are desirous of remembering their friends and loved ones with appropriate Christmas presents are puzzling their minds over what would be suitable for the occasion, and will welcome with delight the information that there is a place where can be found such an aggregation of elegant and pretty articles that a selection will be made easy, because of the great variety of novelties. "Something suitable for everybody" to select from.

C. H. Riege, the bookseller and stationer, is displaying an immense line of Christmas goods purchased direct from the Eastern markets, and the prices are very reasonable. Do not fail to call early and avoid the usual rush. No trouble to show goods.

MORE ABOUT INDIGENTS.

A Lady Indorses Rev. W. H. Martin's Views.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I am very glad to see the Rev. W. H. Martin discuss the question of "Outside Indigents" in your paper of yesterday's edition. The party signing himself "Democrat" certainly has not looked into this question properly, or he would not take the stand which he represents himself as having taken in his communication. Mr. Martin's views are quite what one would expect from him in view of his enlightened Christian intelligence and well known good common sense.

We have among us several widows with little children to support, who work harder than any man in Fresno in order to maintain them and themselves properly, and who keep a good name pure while they make a home for these little ones. Our supervisors would look well, would not they, sending such women and their children out to our county poor house, because, forsooth, they might be temporarily disabled by illness, or the illness of a child, from doing the work whereby they lived?

I know well the case to which Mr. Martin refers; a good woman, deserted by a rascal of a husband, who left her that he might live with another woman as low as himself. He kept what property they had and used it up, leaving her in great distress with five little children, the two youngest twins, to starve or live as best they could. For over six years I have known her well, and have watched her struggle against poverty with a strong will for so frail a body; and at times, if friends had not stood beside her, she must have died under so great a burden.

The supervisors very kindly made her an allowance over a year ago, through representations made to them by her friends, and it has been a great blessing indeed to her. It costs a great deal to keep a family of six persons, and many a man fails to do it; what then is the burden to a delicate woman? If these women and their children were sent to the hospital, what would they do there? It would cost the county a great deal more than it does now, and as it is, the children have the good influence of the home and the mother's care, and are kept in school where they can grow up to become intelligent and useful citizens.

I hope "Democrat" will think this matter over to his own enlightenment, and in future not pull the wool so closely over his own eyes in such large quantities simply because his vote has aided in making it so cheap.
